THE PRODUCER SERIES

Portable PC technology for the live performer

The Producer Series of transportable computers have been developed with the professional musician and producer in mind. Mixing the latest audio and PC technology in a truly complete transportable solution. All the convenience of a portable with the functionality of a desktop.

Compatible

By using industry standard technology GiGTEK endeavour to get the best compatibility into your Producer PC. Processors and motherboards made by Intel, operating systems from Microsoft and sound technology from such market leaders as Creative Labs and Yamaha ensure you can focus on creativity not compatibility.

Customisable

GiGTEK has several standard configurations as shown below. Another feature of the Producer Series is the ability to exactly tailor your Producer to your exact specifications. In this way you get exactly the system you require up, running and producing as quickly as possible.

Expandable

Your Producer can be expanded easily by the addition of extra cards. You may want to add recording or mastering capabilities. You may want to add a CD-Writer. The design of your Producer makes this easy.

Upgradeable

Because your Producer PC is based around standard technology you can easily upgrade when new advances become available. Upgrading memory or processor or hard disks is nearly as easy as on a normal desktop PC.

Adaptable

Producer Series PCs are primarily intended for music and production use. Their adaptability makes them equally at home doing other jobs where the functionality of a desktop is needed in portable form such as video editing or multimedia production.
